

The chocobear

The fierce predator will make you run away instantly and you would never want it to be hunting you! To begin with, it has a crocodile's mouth with sixty four sharp teeth to rip and shred its prey in seconds. It can feed on either fish or larger animals on land. My predator has legs from a cheetah so it can outrun any animal and reach incredible speeds of up to 70 miles per hour! No animal could beat this predator in a race!

This predator can live in cold habitats such as Antarctica and in snowy mountains like the Himalayas in Nepal. This dangerous beast can live in freezing places because it has a polar bear's body which keeps it warm with its thick fur. Also, it can camouflage into the snow with its white body when it is hunting.
